    class Models_People
    class Models_IModel
    class Models_Customer
    Models_Customer --|> Models_People
    Models_Customer --|> Models_IModel

The diagram illustrates a class hierarchy where the Models::Customer class inherits from both the Models::People class and the Models::IModel class. This is represented by a horizontal line connecting the two parent classes, with a vertical line descending from its center to the child class box below.
